[Vol. XXXIII.] [Numb. 1680.]

From Monday November 30, to Monday December 7, 1767.

The Fire-Masters
GIVE NOTICE,

THAT in consequence of the great neglect of many of the inhabitants of Charles-Town, in providing buckets and ladders, keeping their chimnies clean swept, and of observing many other directions required by the laws now in force, wherein the safety and interest of the whole community are so nearly concerned; they are determined to carry the said laws strictly into execution, and on Tuesday the 22d day of December, will examine all the houses in Charles-Town.

The great quantities of hemp, oakum, and other dangerous articles which are now often lodged in cellars and other places, requires the strictest care and attention, if through necessity, lights are at any time carried into such cellars, &c.

It is recommended, that all house keepers should provide new ladders every third year, and examine frequently their strength and sufficiency, as they are often found so much decayed and rotten, they are not only rendered useless, but also the lives and limbs of those who mount them in times of fire, are greatly endangered.

It is further recommended, and much wished for, that every family would hang out at least one light in a lanthorn, in times of fire, whereby those who go to the assistance of the unhappy sufferers will not only see their way better in removing goods to a place of safety, but it also may be the means of preventing thefts. And all house keepers are required and enjoined to be more ready in delivering out their buckets in times of fire.

Gabriel Manigault,
Benjamin Smith,
Thomas Smith, } Fire-Masters.
David Deas,
George Sheed.

And in order that no one may plead ignorance of the laws referred to, the following abstracts are published for their information, which the fire-masters request all persons concern'd strictly to observe.

It is enacted, that no person or persons whatsoever in Charles-Town, shall be permitted to keep any straw or hay in his, her, or their dwelling house, or kitchen, or out house, that is joining to his, her, or their dwelling house, on the penalty of the forfeiture of ten pounds for every such offence.

It is enacted, that every owner or tenant of every dwelling house in Charles-Town, shall provide a leathern bucket of six quarts at least, for every fire-hearth in such dwelling house, one fourth part of the whole to be sent to the managers of the fire engines; they are also to provide one ladder, of a convenient length for each dwelling house; which buckets and ladders are to be always ready in case of fire, on pain of forfeiting the sum of ten pounds; also a penalty of thirty shillings for every bucket withheld, or refused in time of fire, and if any buckets shall be lost at such time, the fire masters are to supply the owners with others in the room of them.

The charge of providing buckets and ladders is to borne and paid by the landlords and owners of houses; but as the said charges may be often paid by the tenant in possession, who is made liable in case of neglect, it is lawful for such tenant, to deduct so much out of the rent as shall be from time to time expended in providing buckets and ladders.

It shall be lawful for the fire-masters to enter into the houses, out-houses, stables and yards, of every owner or tenant, to inquire if they are provided with buckets and ladders; and also to view, search and examine, if any quantity of hay, straw, pitch, tar, rosin, turpentine, oil, tallow, sulphurous or combustible matters are lodged in any place within the same, which may be in danger of taking fire; and if they find there is danger, it is lawful for them after having admonished the owner of such house or houses, to remove such combustible matter (in case of refusing or neglecting to remove the same) at the charge of the owner. All persons who shall suffer their chimnies to take fire, and blaze out at the top, shall forfeit the sum of five pounds.

Upon any alarm in the night time, every inhabitant is to repair to the place where the fire is, with his arms, under the penalty of forty shillings, and shall lodge them in such places, near the fire, as shall be appointed by the fire masters, and the commander of the watch is to order a party of the watch to guard the same. All goods and effects removed, are directed to be carried to the place where the arms are directed to be lodged and guarded. The constables are to appear with their staves, and assist in guarding the said goods and effects, 'till removed to some other place of safety, under the penalty of five pounds. Any person that embezzles any goods or effects, are to be pillored, have their ears cut off, and forfeit four times the value thereof.

The fire-masters are empowered to command any person or persons whatever, to aid and assist in pulling down houses or buildings, for extinguishing of fires, to the utmost of their strength, power and ability; and in case of refusal, if a white person he shall forfeit five pounds, and if a slave, he shall be publickly whipped. All persons who shall do or execute any thing in obedience to the fire-masters, are indemnified against all persons whatsoever.

Remarkable or considerable services in preventing or extinguishing fires, are to be rewarded by the fire masters; and in case any person shall be wounded, maimed, or disabled, in endeavouring to prevent or extinguish fire, a reasonable allowance, maintenance, or provision will be made for such persons.

The masters or managers of the engines, may command any person or persons whatsoever, that shall be present at hand, when any fire breaks out to aid and assist in conveying the engine to the place where the fire shall be. A white person refusing shall forfeit forty shillings, and a slave to be publickly whipped. A reward of forty shilling to every white person, and twenty shillings to every slave, to be paid to those who carry the first engine to the place where the fire breaks out.

WHITEHALL, Sept. 29.

N Sunday laſt, Capt. Wrottesley arrived here from Monaco, * with the melancholy account, that his Royal Highneſs Edward Auguſtus, Duke of York and Albany, died at that place on the 17th inſtant, about eleven o' clock in the morning, of a malignant fever, after a ſevere illneſs of fourteen days, to the great grief of their Majeſties, and all the Royal family. The body was opened and embalmed; and was ordered by commodore Spry to be put on board his Majeſty's ſhip Monmouth, capt. Cosby, to be brought to England.

* A port town of Italy, in the territory of Genoa.

Lord Chamberlain's Office, Sept. 28. Orders for the court's going into mourning on Sunday next, the 4th day of October, for his late Royal Highneſs Edward Auguſtus, Duke of York, next brother to his Majeſty, viz.

The ladies to wear black ſilk, plain muſlin or long lawn, crape or love hoods, black glazed gloves, black paper fans, and black ſilk ſhoes.

Undreſs, black or dark grey unwatered tabbies.

The men to wear black cloth without buttons on the ſleeves or pockets, plain muſlin or long lawn cravats and weepers, crape hatbands, and black ſwords and buckles.

Undreſs, dark-grey frocks.

The Earl Marſhal's order for a general mourning for his late Royal Highneſs Edward Auguſtus, Duke of York and Albany.

In purſuance of his Majeſty's commands, theſe are to give publick notice, that it is expected, that, upon the preſent occaſion of the death of his late Royal Highneſs Edward Auguſtus, Duke of York and Albany, all perſons do put themſelves into decent mourning; the ſaid mourning to begin on Sunday next the 4th day of October.

SCARBOROUGH, M.

Sept. 29, 1767.

[By an Order from the war-office, and one from the admiralty-office, in this Gazette, his Majeſty's pleaſure is ſignified, that he does not require that the officers of the army, or thoſe of his fleet or marines, ſhould wear any other mourning on the preſent melancholy occaſion, than a black crape round their left arms with their uniforms.]

From other Papers.

LONDON, SEPTEMBER 24.

A Few nights ago a gentleman at a certain coffee-houſe at the weſt end of the town, offered to lay 100 guineas to 80 many half guineas, that the preſent miniſtry would laſt as long as the preſent parliament, provided none of them died in the interim, but no perſon would take him up. Whether he or thoſe he thus cow'd knew moſt of the matter, we leave to the judgment of our readers.

Yeſterday lord North kiſſed his majeſty's hand, on being appointed chancellor of the exchequer.

Laſt Monday at Woolwich a proof was made of ſome curious new invented ſhells, which take fire without burſting. The exactneſs with which theſe bombs are thrown, and the blaze of light they afford, is wonderful. Their royal highneſſes the dukes of Glouceſter and Cumberland were preſent, with many other perſons of the firſt diſtinction.

It is now aſſured, that the celebrated John Wilkes, Eſq; will certainly declare himſelf a candidate to repreſent the city of London, at the enſuing election, and that he will appear here in perſon. Several gentlemen of this city, it is ſaid, have received letters from him, at Paris, to that purpoſe.

'Tis conjectured, from the arrival in town of ſeveral great perſons, that there will ſoon be ſome alteration in the miniſtry; and ſome go ſo far as to ſay, that the parliament will be diſſolved before the time appointed for its meeting.

Some letters from Liſbon ſay, that a numerous body of the Britiſh merchants waited on his excellency Mr. Lyttelton two days after his arrival, and preſented a long liſt of the many oppreſſions and grievances his majeſty's trading ſubjects at preſent labour under in that kingdom.

SEPTEMBER 26.

Yeſterday his excellency lord Viſcount Townſhend took leave of his majeſty at St. James's, and will embark in a few days for Ireland.

The right hon. Welbore Ellis, it is ſaid, is to ſucceed lord North as joint paymaſter.

The peerage of his excellency Mr. Pitt will be declared in a few days; there being three dormant baronies, thoſe of Morley, D'Arcy, and Mountjoy.

It is ſaid, that the 24th of November next is abſolutely fixed for the meeting of parliament.

By letters yeſterday from Cheſhire, Lancaſhire and Shropſhire, we are aſſured, that the harveſt in thoſe countries has this year turned out more fine and plentiful than has been known ever ſince the year 1749.

However extraordinary the following may ſeem, it is nevertheleſs an abſolute fact. A gentleman of Cambridge planted a ſingle grain of wheat laſt year in the phyſic garden, which has this harveſt produced 21,109 ears, containing 576 840 grains, that weighed 47 lbs. 7 oz. and meaſured three pecks three quarts.

We are told, that it is ſettled for his excellency the earl of Rochford to continue his embaſſy to the court of France for two years longer.

OCTOBER 1.

The curious are aſſured, that a certain noble lord of the county of Norfolk intends very ſoon to exhibit on Newmarket-heath in a chaiſe of moſt delicate ſtructure, drawn by a brace of deer that are now in training: the vehicle holds himſelf only, and weighs one hundred weight: the deer are already very tractable and eaſy in their harneſs. 'Tis expected his lordſhip's example will ſtrongly recommend this ſwift and Lapland method of conveyance, and that this reſtorement of the ancient olympic games will cauſe a great emulation among the faſhionable members of the turf. Hence the breed of deer will become more choice and valuable, and the progeny of Childers and Godolphin objects of leſs intereſting attention.

We hear that the remains of his late Royal Highneſs the Duke of York will be interred with the ſame ceremonies as were obſerved at the burial of his brother Prince Frederick William, who died Dec. 29, 1765.

We hear that a promotion of general officers is ſoon to be made.

OCTOBER 3.

For about a fortnight laſt paſt the Rev. Mr. Whitefield hath been travelling and preaching at York, Thirſk, Yarm, Hartlepool, Stokeſly, Sunderland and Newcaſtle, where his congregations have been very numerous.

According to letters from Berlin, the king of Pruſſia is preparing to form a camp in the neighbourhood of Potſdam, for which purpoſe ſeveral regiments of horſe and foot are marching thither.

Yeſterday a grand council was held at St. James's, at which his Majeſty, who came from Richmond in the morning, was preſent.

On Wedneſday laſt orders were given for a detachment of the Royal regiment of artillery, to be in readineſs to embark for Gibraltar and Minorca, to compleat the companies on that ſtation.

The king of Pruſſia reviews his whole army every year; but has this year more ſtrictly than ever: on the return of every regiment to their quarters, they had all orders not to lie delicate, but as if in camp; to have their equipages prepared and ready; and by no leave whatever to be abſent from their quarters.—Holland may probably begin what Great-Britain may end.

The Duke of Cumberland, it is now ſaid, will have the blue ribband poſſeſſed by his much lamented brother.

We hear that no vacancies on account of the death of a great perſonage, will be filled up till after the funeral.

We hear that this day a proclamation was to be iſſued out for the meeting of the parliament on Tueſday the 24th of November next, for the diſpatch of buſineſs.

We are informed that the right hon. lord Chancellor will ſet out on Monday next, for town, from Bath, to ſwear in lord North as Chancellor of the Exchequer.

A lady of faſhion we are told poſſeſſes no leſs than two thouſand pounds a year from half the ſalaries of particular offices, which the greatneſs of her influence has procured for ſeveral young gentlemen.

Yeſterday ſeveral foreigners of diſtinction arrived in town from France, who, it is ſaid, have brought with them ſome particular diſpatches for our court.

OCTOBER 4.

We hear that his late royal highneſs the duke of York had fatigued himſelf with dancing at a ball on the 29th of Auguſt, yet immediately after ſet out for Toulon, three or four leagues diſtant, only wrapping himſelf up in his cloak; the next day his royal highneſs complained of a ſlight chilneſs and ſhivering; the indiſpoſition, however, appeared ſo very trifling, that he went at night to the comedy; but before it was over his royal highneſs found himſelf much worſe, and was obliged to withdraw. By proper care he was better in the morning, and therefore ſet forward for Monaco, the prince of which (who was acquainted with his royal highneſs, in his former tour to Italy) was waiting there, in expectation of the honour of a viſit from him, and the duke was the rather inclined to accelerate his journey thither, as in that prince's palace he might look for aſſiſtance and accommodation ſuperior to what he could hope for where he was. The weather happened to be uncommonly hot, and not a little incommoded his royal highneſs: He nevertheleſs arrived at Monaco in good ſpirits, but yet feveriſh, and with an head-ach. The next day the duke was worſe, and took his bed entirely. All poſſible advice and aſſiſtance was given, but to no purpoſe; the fever was unconquerable.

His royal highneſs now ſaw the danger of his ſituation; and he ſaw it with fortitude and reſignation, and with the utmoſt calmneſs and compoſure of mind, adjuſted every ſtep conſequent of the fatal event, himſelf. His royal highneſs ordered that Capt. Wrottesley ſhould bring the news to England, and firſt to wait on Mr. Le Grand, of Spring-Gardens, and with him to go to Leiceſter-houſe, and then to Glouceſter-houſe, and having communicated the event to the dukes his brothers, to proceed to their majeſties ſubmitting it to the king and queen in what manner and by whom it ſhould be imparted to his royal parent. After his royal highneſs had ſettled this arrangement, he ſeemed remarkably eaſy. He declared himſelf perfectly reſigned to the divine will.

His royal highneſs was ſenſible to his laſt moment; and the very moment of his death directed a letter to their majeſties, his illuſtrious parent, and the royal family; deſiring the writer to expedite it, as he had but few minutes to ſpare, and thoſe to employ on ſtill more momentous concerns.

Before his royal highneſs died, we are told, that he ordered all the gentlemen of his retinue to his bedſide, where he took a very affectionate leave of them; and deſired that, as he could not poſſibly live many hours longer, his bliſters might be taken off to give him a little eaſe in his laſt moments; which it is ſaid was done accordingly.

We are told the following is an authentic paragraph, extracted from a letter written by Col. St. John (dated at Monaco the 17th ult.) to his royal highneſs the duke of Glouceſter.—"The incloſed letter is of your royal brother's inditing; and which he ſtrictly charged me to go on with as faſt as ever I was able, leſt his ſenſes ſhould fail him before I got to the end."

OCTOBER 6.

Laſt Saturday's Gazette contains his majeſty's proclamation for the further prorogation of the parliament from the 7th of this month to Tueſday the 24th of November next, then to be held for the diſpatch of divers weighty and important affairs.

They write from Sileſia, that the king of Pruſſia appears much ſatisfied with the new fortreſs building at Silberberg, upon a very high mountain, which is nothing but a chain of rocks. This work, whereon they ſay 6000 men are daily employed, coſts incredible pains, in the execution of it, and cannot be viewed without aſtoniſhment.

Letters from Quebec mention the death of father Rabo the Jeſuit, who laſt ſummer was ſent on an attempt to diſcover if any navigable river communicated from the Weſtward of Lake Superior in Canada to the South Sea.

Extract of a letter from Edinburgh, Oct 2.

"Yeſterday afternoon came on, at the palace of Holyrood houſe here the election of two Peers to ſerve in parliament in the room of the Earls of Hyndford and Moray, deceaſed. There were about thirty Peers preſent, (among them were the dukes of Buccleugh, Athol, and Gordon) beſides proxies; and they unanimouſly made choice of his grace the duke of Gordon, and the right hon. the Earl of Bruthenock, to be two of the ſixteen Peers to repreſent Scotland in the houſe of lords. After the election was over the two new Peers entertained their brethren moſt elegantly at dinner. In the evening there was a brilliant aſſembly."

From the Political Regiſter,

OCTOBER 3.

L—C——m's ſpeech on the declaratory Bill of the Sovereignty of Great-Britain over the Colonies.

WHEN I ſpoke laſt on this ſubject, I thought I had delivered my ſentiments ſo fully, and ſupported them with ſuch reaſons, and ſuch authorities, that I apprehended I ſhould be under no neceſſity of troubling your l——p again. But I am now compelled to riſe up, and to beg your further indulgence: I find that I have been very injuriouſly treated; have been conſidered as the broacher of new-fangled doctrines, contrary to the laws of this kingdom, and ſubverſive of the rights of P——t. , this is a heavy charge, but more ſo when made againſt one ſtationed as I am in both capacities, as P—— and J——, the defender of the law and conſtitution. When I ſpoke laſt, I was indeed replied to, but not anſwered. In the intermediate time, many things have been ſaid. As I was not preſent, I muſt beg leave to anſwer ſuch as have come to my knowledge. As the affair is of the utmoſt importance, and in its conſequences may involve the fate of kingdoms, I took the ſtricteſt review of my arguments; I re-examined all my authorities; fully determined, if I found myſelf miſtaken, publickly to own my miſtake, and give up my opinion: But my ſearches have more and more convinced me, that the B——ſh P——t have no right to tax the A——s, I ſhall not therefore conſider the declaratory bill now lying on your T——e; for what purpoſe, but loſs of time, to conſider the particulars of ——, the very exiſtence of which is illegal, contrary to the fundamental laws of nature, contrary to the fundamental laws of this conſtitution? a conſtitution grounded on the eternal and immutable laws of nature; a conſtitution whoſe foundation and centre is liberty, which ſends liberty to every ſubject that is or may happen to be within any part of its ample circumference. Nor, ——, is the doctrine new, 'tis as old as the conſtitution; it grew up with it, indeed it is its ſupport; taxation and repreſentation are inſeparably united; God hath joined them, no B——ſh P——t can ſeparate them; to endeavour to do it, is to ſtab our very vitals. Nor is this the firſt time this doctrine has been mentioned; ſeventy years ago, a pamphlet was publiſhed, recommending the levying a parliamentary tax on one of the colonies, this pamphlet was anſwered by two others, then much read; theſe totally deny the power of taxing the colonies; and why? becauſe the colonies had no repreſentatives in parliament to give conſent; no anſwer, public or private, was given to theſe pamphlets, no cenſure paſſed upon them; men were not ſtartled at the doctrine, as either new or illegal, or derogatory to the rights of P——t. I do not mention theſe pamphlets by way of authority, but to vindicate myſelf from the imputation of having firſt broached this doctrine.

My poſition is this—I repeat it—I will maintain it to my laſt hour,—taxation and repreſentation are inſeparable;—this poſition is founded on the laws of nature; it is more, it is itſelf an eternal law of nature; for whatever is a man's own is abſolutely his own; no man hath a right to take it from him without his conſent, either expreſſed by himſelf or repreſentative; whoever attempts to do it, attempts an injury; whoever does it, commits a robbery; he throws down and deſtroys the diſtinction between Liberty and Slavery. Taxation and repreſentation are coeval with and eſſential to this conſtitution.—I wiſh the maxim of Machiavel was followed, that of examining a conſtitution, at certain periods, according to its firſt principles; this would correct abuſes and ſupply defects. I wiſh the times would bear it, and that mens minds were cool enough to enter upon ſuch a taſk, and that the repreſentative authority of this kingdom was more equally ſettled. I am ſure ſome hiſtories, of late publiſhed, have done great miſchief; to endeavour to fix the æra when the houſe of c——s began in this kingdom, is a moſt pernicious and deſtructive attempt; to fix it in an Edward's or Henry's reign, is owing to the idle dreams of ſome whimſical, ill-judging antiquarians: But, ——, this is a point too important to be left to ſuch wrong-headed people. When did the houſe of c——s firſt begin? when —— ——? it began with the conſtitution, it grew up with the conſtitution; there is not a blade of graſs growing in the moſt obſcure corner of the kingdom, which is not, which was not ever repreſented ſince the conſtitution began; there is not a blade of graſs, which, when taxed, was not taxed by the conſent of the proprietor. There is a hiſtory written by one Carte, a hiſtory that moſt people now ſee through; and there is another favourite hiſtory much read and admired. I will not name the author, your —— must know whom I mean, and you must know from whence he pilfered his notions, concerning the firſt beginning of the h— of c—s. ——, I challenge any one to poinſt out the time when any tax was laid upon any perſon by P——t, that perſon being unrepreſented in P——t. The P——t laid a tax upon the palatinate of Cheſter, and ordered commiſſioners to collect it there; as commiſſioners were ordered to collect it in other counties; but the palatinate refuſed to comply: they addreſſed the king by petition, ſetting forth, that the Engliſh P——t had no right to tax them, that they had a parliament of their own, that they had always taxed themſelves, and therefore deſired the king to order his commiſſioners not to proceed. ——, the king received the petition; he did not declare them either ſeditious or rebellious, but allowed their plea, and they taxed themſelves. Your —— may ſee both the petition and the king's anſwer in the record's in the Tower. The clergy taxed themſelves: When the P—— attempted to tax them, they ſtoutly refuſed; ſaid they were not repreſented there; that they had a parliament of their own, which repreſented the clergy; that they would tax themſelves. They did ſo. Much ſtreſs has been laid upon Wales, before it was united as it is now is, as if the king, ſtanding in the place of their former princes of that country, raiſed money by his own authority: But the real fact is otherwiſe; for I find that, long before Wales was ſubdued, the Northern counties of that principality had repreſentatives and a parliament or aſſembly. As to Ireland, ——, before that kingdom had a P——t as it now has; if your —— will examine the old records, you will find, that when a tax was to be laid on that country, the Iriſh ſent over here repeſentatives; and the ſame records will inform your ——, what wages thoſe repreſentatives received from their conſtituents. In ſhort ——; from the whole of our hiſtory, from the earlieſt period, you will find that taxation and repreſentation were always united; ſo true are the words of that conſummate reaſoner and politician Mr Locke. I before alluded to his book; I have again conſulted him; and finding what he writes ſo applicable to the ſubject in hand, and ſo much in favour of my ſentiments, I beg your —'s leave to read a little of his book.

"The ſupreme power cannot take from any man, any part of his property, without his own conſent;" and B. II. p. 136—39, particularly 156. Such are the words of this great man, and which are well worth your ——'s ſerious attention. His principles are drawn from the heart of our conſtitution, which he thoroughly underſtood, and will laſt as long as that ſhall laſt; and to his immortal honour, I know not to what under providence, the revolution and all its happy effects, are more owing, than the principles of government laid down by Mr. Locke. For theſe reaſons, ——, I can never give my aſſent to any bill for the taxing the A——n C——s, while they remain unrepreſented; for as to the diſtinction of a virtual repreſentation, it is ſo abſurd as not to deſerve anſwer; I therefore paſs it over with contempt. The forefathers of the A——s did not leave their native country, and ſubject themſelves to every danger and diſtreſs, to be reduced to a ſtate of ſlavery: They did not give up their rights; they looked for protection, and not for chains, from their mother-country: By her they expected to be defended in the poſſeſſion of their property, and not to be deprived of it: For, ſhould their preſent power continue, there is nothing which they can call their own; or, to uſe the words of Mr. Locke, "What property have they in that, which another may, by right, take, when he pleaſes, to himſelf."

ON Tueſday the 20th inſt. the general aſſembly of the government of New Caſtle, Kent and Suſſex, upon Delaware, met here, when the honourable John Vining, Eſq; was unanimouſly choſen ſpeaker; and James Sykes, Eſq; clerk of aſſembly.

Philadelphia, October 29. On Thurſday laſt his excellency general Gage arrived here from New-York, and on Monday he reviewed the 18th regiment, under the command of lieutenant colonel Wilkins. The men made a genteel appearance; went through their exerciſe with the greateſt exactneſs and alertneſs; performed the different firings moſt regularly; and repreſented a bush fight, which gave great ſatisfaction to ſome thouſands of ſpectators. The general, we hear, was much pleaſed with the whole performance, and returned the regiment his thanks, for their very regular and ſoldier-like behaviour.

Friday laſt arrived here the Pennſylvania Packet, Captain Falconer, from London, with whom came paſſenger, the honourable James Hamilton, Eſq; late lieutenant governor of this province.

Since our laſt arrived here the captains Hardie and Spurrier, from Rotterdam, with Palatines.

Boſton, Nov. 5. Laſt week we had a very heavy ſtorm of wind and rain, the ſeverity of it was on Wedneſday, no great damage done in this harbour, but in the bay, the wind being violent at N. E. many veſſels were in great diſtreſs.

Newport, Nov. 9. Capt. Giles Stanton arrived here laſt Saturday from Monte-Chriſti, in 20 days paſſage. He informs, that the Spaniſh general at St. Domingo had ſent orders to the Mount, forbidding any Engliſh veſſel to lie there more than 24 hours.

New York, Nov. 12. By Capt. Luther, from N. Carolina, we learn, that the gale of wind, on the 16th of October laſt, was very violent in thoſe parts, and that out of 14 veſſels that were then lying wind-bound at Ocre Bar, only 7 rode it out.

PHILADELPHIA, November 9.

Extract of a letter from London, Sept. 18.

"As to politics, every thing ſtill remains as it has done for ſome time paſt. Lord Mansfield is made Chancellor of the Exchequer pro Tempore, till our great men can agree among themſelves, or ſtill ſome ſpirited and honeſt man ſhall take the lead (which I wiſh may be the caſe) and, truſting to the king's countenance and ſupport, who means nothing but the happineſs of his people, make a proper arrangement of the candidates for public offices, and eſtabliſh a miniſtry upon a ſolid and reſpectable footing; a ſituation highly neceſſary for this country.—Perhaps, in a few weeks, you may hear ſomething to the purpoſe, but don't depend on it, for I think we were never farther from a ſettlement than at this juncture; I wiſh I may be found to have been miſtaken."

Newport, November 2. The general aſſembly of this colony met at South Kingſton on Wedneſday laſt, on Saturday adjourned to the laſt Monday in February next. At this ſeſſion, the lower houſe voted, that the ſpeaker be requeſted to write to his majeſty's ſecretary of ſtate, and to the lords of the treaſury, reſpecting the ſufferers by the riot in this Town in Auguſt, 1765, and to tranſmit to their lordſhips copies of the ſeveral reſolutions of the houſe, with regard to granting compenſation to the ſaid ſufferers.

New-York, November 7. Capt. Sheldon, from Newfoundland, in 17 days, informs us, that a ſhip from Philadelphia was juſt arrived there, and that governor Palliſer, had lately condemned there a French ſhip and cargo, which he found out of her limits for having only 6 Beaver ſkins on board; the veſſel was afterwards cleared, and gone out of Port, but the cargo detained.

Philadelphia, November 16. By Capt. Creighton, from Liſbon, we learn, that the honourable Mr. Lyttelton arrived there the beginning of September from England; that the Engliſh factory entertained great expectations from his embaſſy; that he had had two or three audiences, but the reſult of them had not tranſpired; that three men of war, and a number of tranſports, with three regiments on board, had ſailed for the Brazils, it was ſuppoſed, but by the laſt veſſels from thence they had received ſome diſagreeable advices of a revolt; and that the report of a revolt at Terceira was without foundation.
